Texas Gil Field Near San Los Angeles Men Close Antonio Has 17 Producing Oil Wells.

Somerset, Texas, July 22,-The Somsight of San Antonio, is being gradual. is attracting considerable attention on own mill. the part of small individual investors. In several respects the territory around Somerset, where development operations are being conducted, is remarkable. First of these is that there has not been a "dry" hole drilled in the field up to this time. The proved area is three miles one way by two miles the other way. Within this territory 25 wells have been drilled and all of them contain oil in more or less paying quantities. There are now 17 wells is actual daily production by means of pumping. The other wells are temporarily closed on account of their owners being financially unable to install the necessary pumping outfits. The discovery well, which was put down three years ago by the Somerset Coll company, has not diminished the slightest in production, its daily outrut being about eight barrels per day. The oil of this and all the other wells is 28 degrees Baume and yields 25 per cent gasoline and 26 per cent illuminating oil.

The wells of the Somerset field have the part of small individual investors. I is 28 degrees faulthe and 20 per cent illuminating oil.

The wells of the Somerset field have a daily production each of four to eight barrels. Most of the holes are about 200 feet deep. The despest well in the field is down about 2000 feet and was abandoned without being finished. It is stated that the usual strata of oil was found in this well.

It is claimed that the development of the field along practical lines has been greatly hampered by speculators who had no other object in view than to reap profits from the sale of stock in companies that they organized. This feature which is common to all new oil fields has now been eliminated to a large extent and the industry is rapidly assuming a commercial basis.

The Slump Oil company is building a refinery of 150 barrels daily capacity. It is located within easy reach of the producing wells and it is expected that its operation will enable the marketing of oil at better prices and at less cost than is possible under present condi-waterworks system, the Orion pape into and the water supply from the Big Jim mine. The new company has alteady received its permit to sell water from the corporation comimission and will supply water for Osaman, Mazona and Old Trails, the three principal townsites in this district. The company will get its water from the Colorado river, nearby where it has some wells, that give the water natural filtration through the Orion pipe line, a distance of about 11 miles.

To Start August 1.

The company expects to start by the first of August but as some repairs are necessary on the pipe line, it will use the water from the Big Jim mine until it can pump from the wells near the river. The river will yield 180,000 gallons every 24 hours, while the Big Jim yield is 100 gallons every minute. It will also supply water for the Gold Dust mill, which will need about 400,000 gallons every month. The mill is a 20 stamp affair and is fitted with amaigam plates. It will do custom work in addition to its own ores. It is expected that the mill will be running in about 60 days.

The mill heady for Work.

The mill has announced that it is ready to treat the ores of the Big Jim property, the Golconda, the Arlzona Tom Reed, the Lexington Arizona, the Big Jim, the Boundary Cone, the Oatman Belle and the Paramount mines and will make contract if necessary when the amount of ore to be milled is decided on.

The project is backed by Los Angeles capital. The officers of the new company are: W. H. Wise, of Los An-Mill Ready for Work.

San Javier's 400 Employes Continue Work During Crisis in Mexico.

Nogales, Ariz., July 22 -- At least one American mining camp in Sonora kept steadily at work through all the late disturbances. It was that of San Javier, the site of the works of the Laughlin company, which also secures from nearby mines the coal necessary to heat its bollers and ore roasters. officials in Hermosillo sent word to the camp about the time of the Carrizal the camp about the time of the Carrizal disaster that all Americans had better stay quietly, rather than attempt to get out of the country. The advice was taken and the mill wak kept running stendily, handling about 4000 tons of rich ore a month. There was no trouble whatever from the 400 employes, who remained industrious and contented, and there has been no report of any visits from insurrectos of any sort. Indeed, the camp appears to have been a sort of political oasis.

W. C. Laughlin and C. C. Rountree of the administrative staff of the company have arrived at Nogales from the mines. They met with nothing but courtesy on their trip.

Abundant Rains in Mountains.
Abundant rains in the mountains the past week have assured a continuous ample water supply for mine and mill and all plants are running at full capacity. The economic importance of utilizing one of the locally available sites for a hydro electric installation is becoming more and more apparent and it is confidently believed some definite steps to this end will be taken in the early future on a scale sufficiently large to meet the growing power consumption of the district.

Madison Square Garden In Hands of Receiver: Long Amusement Center

New York, July 27 -- Madison Square garden has passed into the hands of a receiver. This historical place stands on land assessed at $2,700,000, and the improvements are valued at $1,850,000. In 1780 the 37 scres of ground, on which Madison Square garden is now located, was sold for 2,250 pounds. By 1882 the property had been advanced in price so that the land value of the site now octhat the land value of the site now occupied by Madison Square garden brought $1,500,000. The history of Madison Square garden is of great interest in the story of the development of New York. In the early days a small stream ran through the ground on which the building is located. It was the custom to use the water from it to overflow the adjoining land, in order that a skating pond might be had for winter sporth. In the early 50s, the neighborhood became the center of a good deal of development, and some of the old hotels still remaining in the locality were erected at about that period. The garden has long been the home of Barnum's, Ringling Brothers, and other big circuses. The annual horse show, prize fights, and many institutions for the pleasure of the public have been housed beneath its roof. What the figure of the garden will be no one can guess; but there is a strong movement to make the building a home no one can guess; but there is a strong movement to make the building a home for the New York courts, which have been outgrowing all of their habita tions.

SOUTHERN COCHISE COUNTY NEEDS A SUPERIOR COURT

NEEDS A SUPERIOR COURT

Douglas, Ariz, July 22.—Southern Cochies county needs a superior caurt very badly indeed. At Tembetone the bootlegging cases are piled up by the hundred and sach is being fought with something of un idea of defeating the course of instite through delay. Last year the criminal work took up three fourths of the time of the court. This year the situation is worse.
Civil and probate work is showed aside and handled hurriedly when reached.

The fact is plain to all lawyers and liftgants that there is ion much work for one court. The state law allows an additional tribunal to counties of over 45,000 populations. Under this Maricopa has two. But there has been no course to determine the undoubted fact that cephine also has the required number, so the mitter will be taken to the coming legislature.

It is planned to ask for the second court at Douglas or Blabes, not at the county sead, which is the origin of not a 10th of the criminal business. High costs are piled up and witnesses and jurors are hauted from the centers of population. A feature of Arizona legislature to do and there is a possibilly that an effort will be made to secure the creation of judicial districts, instead of the present inequitable division by counties.

So we immediately increased the production-filled the orders and notified our dealers not to push the model too hard as we were going night and day to catch

Before the end of the first week orders were pouring in so rapidly that we decided to again increase the production so that there would be no disappointments.

But still bales of business continued to flood the factory.

Now we are shipping 500 of the new cars every single day and are fairly breaking our backs to keep pace with the great demand that now looks as if it never would
